dedication

In memory of Mr. Clifton Dowlin who gave unselfishly of his time, energy, and experience to all who came his way; we, with deep appreciation, dedicate this Red and White.

Miss Helen G. Paulmenn

Miss Helen V. Decker

hopes and realities

During the past three years at Battin, you, our seniors, have worked and hoped and prayed that this great global war would come to an end with victory for the United Nations. Your work here on the home front has been carried on faithfully, efficiently, willingly, and cheerfully as loyal American citizens. Your tasks, which have seemed trivial when compared with those of the men and women in the armed forces and in industry, have nevertheless contributed in no small way to the total efforts toward bringing victory nearer. Battin looks with pride upon your accomplishments and urges you to continue your efforts until lasting peace is assured.

Your hopes and prayers are becoming realities as, day by day, you follow the progress of the allied forces and hear of the approach of "V-E Day." Victory in Europe is only a part of the total victory. It calls for renewed efforts and prayers to help and to sustain the valiant men carrying on the fight against Japan. You cannot, you must not fail them.

The ultimate goal of this war is the establishment of a just and lasting peace for all peoples. As the future citizens of America, a grave responsibility rests upon you to help build and maintain that peace, for which so many men have paid the supreme sacrifice.

You can begin now to lay the foundation in your home, in your school, in your neighborhood, and in your community by applying the Golden Rule in all human relationships. You can continue to practice the fundamental principles of friendliness, cooperation, brotherhood, and tolerance, which you have learned at Battin. It is your privilege to spread the gospel of good-will and your responsibility to build a proper respect for and loyalty to our American traditions and ideals.

We will all be better prepared to understand our neighbors of other lands and more assuredly maintain peace with them when we discard our prejudices, uproot biases, and as a result merit their confidence. May the future hold for you a world where peace, harmony, and understanding will be the ruling force.

Case No. 1944 - 1945

We, the graduating class of 1945, of Battin High School, Elizabeth, county of Union, State of New Jersey, being of unmentionable age, and sound (?) mind and short-lived memory, do make, publish, and declare this to be our First Will and Testament.

Item 1—We direct that all our budget payments and senior expenses be paid by the juniors as soon as possible after our departure.

Item 2—To you, enthusiastic juniors, we bestow the honored title of seniors. May you continue cooperation with Jefferson where we left off.

Item 3—To the bewildered sophs, we leave the energy to carry on till escalators, elevators, and ladders become a reality.

Item 4—For you, faculty, we just leave. Perhaps, you may reach the cafeteria in safety for the first time in many years.

Item 5—In appreciation of services rendered, we would like to intrust to future students certain characteristics so outstanding in members of this class:

The 99.44 per cent participation in school activities and leadership of Margaret Kessler to Ruth Kolakowski. To any aspiring journalist, the patience, ingenuity, and gray hairs required to meet a "High Spots" deadline. Relieving Claire Reinherz of the headaches and numerous tasks that fall on the shoulders of editor-in-chief of Red and White, we burden capable Harriet Lockwood, along with a pair of roller skates to get around to the separate staffs.

Catherine Chussler places the flag into Helen Pyatak's hands, so she may carry it with the other duties of the Service League. To Dorothy Furness, Arlene Neu, and the other promising junior athletes, the opportunity to become champs and cheerleaders to beat the exceptional record of the present seniors. Carmen Gonzales, prima ballerina, bows out of the spotlight in favor of Jean Starr. To Jane Lawless and Mary Menter we "hand-over" the artistic talent found in the fingers of Betty Halbeisen and Kathleen McElhinney.

To argumentative juniors, the chance to "prove their point" in Senior Honor Forum. To the stage stars of the future, the advantage to improve their budding talent in Senior Honor Dramatics as Evelyn Freedberg and Louise Bracuto have so ably done. To Ruth Greenwood, Marjorie Deiner in glee club, and Doris Stark and Pauline Schillinger from band and orchestra, the responsibility of maintaining the high standard of the music department so well sustained by Margaret Wislowski, Marie Martins, Margery Loeser, and Constance Boubliis.

Jean Sternheimer and Naomi Pryor gladly bequeath to Betty Klawunn and Santa Fortunato their tattered aprons and the duty of rising at the "crack of dawn" to distribute the newspapers. To even things up, Dorothy Van Dyke "chops off" a few inches to donate to Anne Conroy, while Mary Roselli would like to take some of Sylvia Turk's "skyscraper height."

To the many who feel that his songs, bow ties, and sighs shall be immortal, we leave the pleasure of swooning, screaming, and waiting in lines for Frank Sinatra. Helen Leventhal and Irene Kennedy relinquish some of their ability of keeping everyone in a good humor to Joanne Johnson and Thelma Seip.

We, as representatives of this senior class, do hereunto set our hand this first day of April, 1945, A.D.

Song

Battin High, our Alma Mater,
We sing in tribute to thee.
Joyous days that we have spent here,
Always in our minds will be.
Wisdom, courtesy, patience, friendliness;
Through the years thy guidance stressed.
From our hearts with deep devotion,
We give thee our gratefulness.

Battin High, our Alma Mater,
As the coming years pass by,
Memories of happy moments,
In our hearts, they will not die.
Through the future, thoughts will linger,
As a standard high and true.
These will guide us on life's pathway,
Battin High, we bid adieu.

Magazine Gives Fashion Show

Famous Models Feature Original Summer Creations

Last week the new magazine "Lifeless" staged an elaborate fashion show of American-designed styles. It hired for the occasion ten of the prettiest models it could find, and put them through a series of acts which included costumes for almost every hour of the day.

Rhoda Sheinblatt wore a wool night-shirt patterned after grandpa's to start off the day. In for an early morning swim was Babette Tetter, in a fuchsia wool jersey suit. Next we went to work at the airport with Doris Young, who wore a black beret, and a jersey-striped creation.

After a little jaunt to South America in our helicopter, Rosalind Panzer showed us a beach outfit in which to spend the rest of the morning—blue playsuit under a skirt of celanese jersey.

For lunch, Jean Rankin donned a white organdy dress with cotton lace mitts, while we spent the afternoon at the playground in a pair of checked shorts. For dinner we put a navy wool shirtmaker dress over the shorts. These last two ensembles were modelled by Shirlee Levine and Dorothy Van Dyke.

One store executive, Jean Sternheimer, when asked her opinion of what she had seen, could only exclaim: "It was terrific!"

Nurses' Luncheon

Bertha Masterlarczyk, recently appointed chief of staff of the Elizabeth General Hospital, was guest of honor at a luncheon yesterday, held at the Winfield Scott Hotel.

Irene Kosuda, head of nurses at the hospital, gave an address of welcome which was followed by brief talks by Ann Smith and Jane Lammerding who returned from a tour of European hospitals last month.

After luncheon Florence Adamonis, also on the Elizabeth General Hospital staff, demonstrated some new medical instruments.

Other nurses from the city who attended were Rita Wilus, Nancy Frederick Margaret Pries and Jane Lammerding.

Famous Explorer Relates Travels

We've heard of Ethel Flynn, world-famous adventurer and explorer, ever since we were old enough to understand what the phrase "adventurer and explorer" meant, so when we discovered she was in town for a few days, we went right over to her hotel to speak to her.

When we rang the bell to her room, we were greeted by a pert, neat secretary, Elsie Hutschenreuter. She has been Miss Flynn's private secretary for several years.

Miss Flynn has traveled much in search of new realms and strange animals. She has discovered four new species of the elephant and unearthed three new civilizations.

She was charming and hospitable, and told us all about her travels, emphasizing the more exciting events with her hands. She told us that Alma Keen and Stella Ruszalo often accompany her on these trips, and share with her the "pleasures of exploring."

Women Overtake Sports World

Frances Lisevick and Mary Amann, badminton doubles champions of the United States, have been decided on as the logical athletes to represent their country in the difficult game of the birdie when the Olympic games are held in France sometime next month.

Betty Sakotski, known in aquatic circles for her invincibility, will defend her Olympic Crown again next month, in several long-distance swimming events.

Chosen to pitch the first game in a women's softball contest is Lorraine Kembrie, famous because of the uncanny accuracy with which she tosses the ball.

Mary Lidon will captain a volley ball team.

A tentative list of names has been announced for the women's basketball team. It includes Flo Jakiel, Nancy Cordoro, Lillian Reiman.

Washington News

The House of Representatives today held a discussion of the new farm formulas, introduced by Representatives Carolyn Schramm (D. New Jersey), and Antoinette Mariano (D. Delaware), which was the fourth day devoted to that subject.

A filibuster still continues in the Senate by Irene Kennedy, which is expected to surpass the longest one on record up to now — twenty-seven and three-quarter hours. This filibuster is in opposition to a bill presented by Senators Dorothy Luttgens (R. New Jersey), June Garner (R. Michigan), on the revision of the old income tax laws.

Meanwhile, President Margaret Kessler is conferring with members of her diplomatic staff, including Nancy Bishop, Janet Osborne, Kate Haynes, Anna Semen, Barbara Mallett, Secretary of State, and Catherine Chussler, Secretary of the Treasury, are scheduled for conferences later today with the President.

Science Convention

The International Society of Women Scientists held a formal reception at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel last night in honor of Lillian Morofsky, M.D., discoverer of a new and more expedient tuberculin test, and Stella Sozin, inventor of the new universal process of mending silk stockings without use of thread.

The chairman of the society, Florence Montvillo, world-famous research chemist, presided. Present at the meeting were Peggy Pappas, Dorothy Grabowiecki, Lillian Harmon, and others equally well-known in scientific fields.

Exhibits Work Of Local Artists

There is now an exhibit of the best in American contemporary art at the Museum of Modern Art in New York City. One can view portraits by Diana Gerson and Kathleen McElhinney, landscapes by Joan Stein, illustrations by Hope Corcoran, a series of Maine landscapes by Barbara Anne Kerr and Doris Caldwell.

At a date, unannounced as yet, a series of lectures on art appreciation will be given by Naomi Pryor and Evelyn Miller.

Educators Meet At Convention In New York

An international gathering of leading educators held at the Hotel Ambassador, New York City, ended yesterday. This was the third in a series of five conventions held in a different country each year.

The principal portion of the week was spent in attending lectures by various famous scholars and professors. Among the most outstanding were Zenett Pomykalo, French Professor at the Sorbonne; Shirley Randa, Dean of Vassar College; Lillian Geder, German instructor at the University of Moscow, Russia; Jean Shulties, Supervisor of Latin, at the University of Padua; Esther Mariano, Economics Instructor, University of Chicago; Sophie Varas, Spanish Instructor, University of Havana, Cuba; and Holly Frank, Music Instructor, Buenos Aires School of Music.

Also heard were Elizabeth Farr, Dean of Women's College, Oxford, and Elaine Danziger, Home Economics Instructor, Cornell University.

The keynote speaker was Florence Levy, History Professor at the University of Wisconsin, who told an enthusiastic audience that it is the duty of every teacher to realize that the factor of education has been proven to be one of the most important elements in world history, and should be used accordingly.

Newspaper Chooses All-Woman Staff

A new newspaper, AM, made its appearance on American newsstands yesterday. It is published by Marjorie Brailove.

The staff consists of Claire Reinherz, Managing Editor; Marian Costanzo, Feature Editor; Patsy Halprin, Cartoonist; Doris Buchanan, Copy Editor; and Germaine Garnett, Sunday Supplement Editor.

According to an editorial in the first issue, the aim of AM is to instruct, entertain, promote reader interest in the policies of a paper, and promote worthwhile thought on all important world subjects.

COMEDY, DRAMA, CONCERT OPEN BROADWAY SEASON

Musical, "Texas?"
Play, "Faith in Family" Orchestra Score

"Texas?" and "Faith in Family" made their debuts last night at the Ziegfeld and Hudson Theatres, respectively while music lovers turned their attention to the Philadelphia Symphony Orchestra which made its first appearance in New York this year.

"Texas?", a new musical pageant by Corinne Newman, opened at the Ziegfeld Theater last night. A capacity audience sat through and thoroughly enjoyed three hours of eye-filling spectacle, involving a cast headed by talented Marie Martins.

The play itself is a musical history lesson, pretty, if not always factual. It deals with outstanding events, past and present, in Texas. Beginning with the early Mexican settlement of the territory, which is highlighted by the superb dancing of Carmen Gonzales, the story takes us up to the Texas as we think of it now, complete with a lasso ballet.

The choreography—something new in the modern dance—was done by Claire McGuire; technical effects are under the direction of Barbara Kalinsky; Betty Halbeisen designed the colorful costumes; it is based on a book by Evelyn Tirsbier; Lorraine Gries is the producer.

Tickets have already been sold for fourteen and a half months in advance.

Music Notes

The Philadelphia Symphony Orchestra opened its season last night with Margery Loeser as guest conductor. In the orchestra were such notables as Alice Gratacos, Ruth Pries, Stella Mydosh, Dorothy Eagler, Sarah Simons, and Eleanor Graham. The program was enthusiastically received and a brilliant year is indicated for the orchestra.

Another in a series of concerts given in Central Park was presented Friday evening. The all-country band, under the baton of Constance Boublis, played many familiar selections. The soloist of the evening was Wanda Tzangas, cornetist. Evelyn Aultfather, Marie Volpe, Helen Suchar, and Jean Mailler, are to appear as soloists at future performances.

Margaret Wislowski, soprano, will give a recital at Town Hall on next Friday evening. Gladys MacDonald, Barbara Kosberg, and Phyllis Kirkgaard will sing here at future dates, not yet announced.

Strictly Drama

For the past few years, Louise Bracuto has been much too busy producing musicals to pay any attention to straight drama. Last night, however, she remedied this oversight by showing an enthusiastic first-night audience "Faith in Family," a serious play featured by its all-girl cast. Helen Leventhal plays a crippled and neurotic mother whose chief ambition is to keep her two daughters tied to her apron strings; Regina Telitsky does a magnificent job of portraying the young daughter who does not rebel, while Lucille Alte plays the older daughter, a girl much more conscious of the situation, and one who tries to correct it.

The play is full of tense scenes between the mother and her children, where some of the best acting Broadway has seen this season is evident.

Rosina Mogensen and Marian Neeson head an excellent supporting cast.

Evelyn Freedberg directed; the costuming and set were by Gloria McClosky.

All factors point to a long stay at the Hudson.

New Play

Shirlee Rubin announces the opening of a new comedy, "Laugh While You May" starring Irma Kraft and Dorothy Sarandria. The play which will open tomorrow night at the New Broadway Theater was produced by Mae Read and co-directed by Edith Berman and Miss Rubin.

september 1944

We entered school wearing long corduroy jackets with plaid skirts, and our feet clad in bobby socks and loafers. And all we heard was, "Did you hear about the moron who . . . ?"

october 1944

Dick Tracy's character, Flattop, had a great deal of influence on our hair styles. No more pompadours, instead a trend towards neat sophistication. Our hair was parted in the middle with velvet bands, or on the side with silver barrettes. Other girls ate bullets and their hair came out in bangs.

november 1944

After much discussion and controversy, we still haven't decided who is better, Bing Crosby or Frank Sinatra. We borrowed Frankie's bow ties and Bing's loud shirts.

december 1944

Our thoughts turned to jewelry, everyone eyeing with envy the number of silver bracelets a girl can wear on her arm.

january 1945

The ice was frozen and snow was on the ground. Out of the moth balls came freshmen caps, earmuffs, ski suits, skating outfits, high woolen socks, and ice skates.

february 1945

We looked super with our pea jackets and service insignias adorning our sleeves.

march 1945

Richards (Dickies) set off our neat fuchsia, plum, chartreuse, coral, and orchid sweaters, which were worn either inside or outside of our skirts.

april 1945

To splash around in puddles, we clothed ourselves in high rubber boots, slickers or trench coats, kerchiefs, and, to top it all, plaid umbrellas.

may 1945

Stiffly starched gingham pinafores, broomstick skirts, and sheer blouses, kept us fresh and cool. To set off this costume, braids were worn with contrasting flowers or ribbons on the ends.

june 1945

After the prom, class night, and graduation, we took off our glamorous evening gowns, white dresses and stately caps and gowns, and put on our faded jeans with sweat shirts and started to work in our victory gardens.

those senior privileges

"There is a foolish corner even in the brain of the sage."—Aristotle

So do the staid seniors await the joyous days when they may do the things they've wanted to for three years! At the arrival of this time, Battin's halls echo with such conversations:

Gosh, all the stairways are crowded. I'll be late to class.

Halt—about face! Ten paces! Right face! March!

But it's the marble staircase!

Of course! It's ours at last! The command is "Cease worrying!"

Brrrring—the lunch bell! And they're off! Slow down, Flo. Don't you remember? Our table's reserved. From now on we can politely saunter to the cafeteria.

What'll I wear to school tomorrow?

Well, Junior, just make sure it isn't white! Even a tattle-tale gray won't be allowed! Senior Day means white for Seniors only!

Did you ever see so many ghosts around? Why does everyone look so pale? It isn't Hallowe'en. No, but don't you recall the ban on make-up for underclassmen? Here's our only chance in the year to get a date!

There, "sneaks" tied, white socks, gym suit neat;

I'm all set and before the whistle for once!

What are you doing? Today's Senior Day!

You didn't have to change at all!

Hmmmm—I wonder if we may assign homework to teachers! At least for one day I can be at ease in class. The only thing is—do we have to know anything about the subject to "take over"?

days and daze

september 6

It's back to school again and I can't help being a bit excited. At long last I'm a senior! Funny but I don't feel any different than when I was a soph.

september 13

Just getting used to the change of room numbers—some confusion!

october 28

Jeff played St. Mary's today. What a game!!! It's something to send to Ripley. We won—40-0! YEAH TEAM!

november 3

Went to a Jeff dance and had a "neat" time. Band was wonderful—escort even better.

november 15

That dreaded day has come—report cards—sometimes I wish 80's and 90's were the only numbers.

november 17

Dreamy music, harvest decorations—oh for a man! All I could do was serve refreshments at Battin's dance.

november 22

What a wonderful feeling to walk into a school and find boys there. Co-ed assembly today at Jeff was swell. Oh, for co-education!!!!

february 1

Broke my arm today and the girls in first aid had a wonderful time bandaging my imagination.

march 27

Everybody on their best behavior. Hope Battin passes the evaluation with flying colors!

april 31

Red and White came out today. It's bigger and better than ever before—but my picture—ugh!

may 21

At last I don't have to run for a lunch table. Senior privileges certainly made things easier. Now I can use the marble staircase without fear of being caught.

may 26

Bought my gown today. It's Exquisite. Hope HE gets that leave. Prom's not far off, can't wait!!!!

june 12

Senior Day! Was an English teacher, just for today though. All the seniors looked lovely in white.

june 14

Stayed up till three o'clock. No, not a date—exams.

june 18

Net taffeta, and silk gowns—class night was full of joy, colors, and prizes.

june 19

I felt proud in my cap and gown but also quite sad—"I'll not forget you, Alma Mater."

senate

"Vox populi vox Dei." Battin's "voice of the people" is Senate, a name well suited to this organization composed of all homeroom presidents, class leaders, and representatives of the school's outstanding activities.

Meeting to present the views, opinions, questions, and problems of each girl, Senate makes decisions, acts, and tries to produce the desired results.

national honor society

One of the highest goals that a Battin student may achieve is becoming a member of the National Honor Society.

Previously limited to the senior class, the membership is now opened to five per cent of the junior class and fifteen per cent of the senior class.

Girls chosen for membership must be in the upper third of their class. In addition, the girl must possess good qualities of character, scholarship, leadership, and service.

Seniors chosen last spring by the faculty were: Audrey Bischoff, Margaret Brandenburg, Matilda Davis, Marie Donofri, Jane Edmondson, Charlotte Epstein, Jessie Geddes, Eleanor Gubick, Dorothy Guensler, Estelle Guidice, Joan Haggerty, Marjorie Halstrick, Mildred Huzar, Charlotte Kornhauser, Ruth Kunzmann, Kathryn Luttgens, Jean Menage, Henrietta Norsk, Helen Pasternak, Olga Pawlyk, Shirley Reiman, Olive Rice, Miriam Rosenblatt, Beatrice Schramm, Vivienne Sikora, Fedalma Sredzinski, Leota Stringham, Joan Stone, Barbara Szafranski, Edith Vegotsky, Jean Wettling, Olga Wirbalis, Louise Zingler.
